

ALL THINGS BRIGHT AND BEAUTIFUL

Public Domain

Each little flower that opens, each little bird that sings.
God made their glowing colors, He made their tiny wings.
Yes, all things bright and beautiful, all creatures great and small,
And all things wise and wonderful, the Lord God made them all.
The cold winds in the winter, the pleasant summer sun,
The ripe fruits in the garden, He made them every one.

Chorus

He gave us eyes to see them, and lips that we might tell
The goodness of the Father, Who doeth all things well.

Chorus

I learned this song from my Mom and Sunday school. Some may prefer to use Creator rather than Father, I chose to keep this in its original form. I developed the chord progression, in particular, the chorus. I think it is a very beautiful song about the celebration of nature.
